LOST HIS SENSES, GRABBED AN AXE

Then Killed Father, Mother and Brother.

HORRIBLE TALE OF BUTCHERY

Unfolded by Indiana Youth—
Haltingly Confesses
Terrible Crime.

A LOVER'S DISAPPOINTMENT

Evansville, Ind., Aug. 26.—William Lee, twenty-two years old, confessed late to-day that he murdered his father, Richard Lee, his mother and younger brother, Clarence, and then set fire to the house in the hope of concealing the crime, at Booneville, early Thursday morning.

In verbal and written statements to Sheriff Davis in the jail here, Lee said that his motive was anger because his parents would not consent to his marriage with Mina Taylor, of Newburg, which he had planned for Thursday evening, and would not give him money with which to set up housekeeping.

When the confession was made public, officers started with Lee in an automobile for the State Reformatory at Jeffersonville to prevent possible mob violence here.

Lee had made a statement that he had killed his father in self-defense with an axe after the father had murdered his wife and younger son, but Sheriff Davis all of to-day pressed the restless prisoner for "the true story," and this afternoon Lee, asking for pen and ink, wrote a haltingly worded confession and afterward pieced together, in answers to questions, a description of the horrible butchery in the close, three-room cottage at Booneville.

Lee said that he went on Wednesday night to Newburg, where he called on his fiancee and they talked of the arrangements for their wedding. He had had $100 in the bank, but had spent it, and he knew his parents had $50 in the house. He returned home late at night and his mother reprimanded him, he said.

He told her he was determined to be married the following day and she answered that he should not, that he must stay at home. Going to his own room, Lee said, he brooded until he was out of his mind.

Suddenly he rushed into the room where his father, mother and brother slept. "I grabbed an axe by the door," he said, "and struck for my father, but hit my mother. My brother raised up and I struck him. Then my father, who had been outside, ran in and started to grab me by the throat. I hit him and he fell. I was scared so badly I didn't know what I was doing. What scared me was that my father had threatened my life and I was angry at what my mother had said."

Lee said he lit a match to see what he had done, and then dropped the flaming stick on the bed where his mother's body lay. "The flames flashed up and blinded me," he went on, "and I jumped into my room, put on my trousers and ran to alarm the neighbors. I would not have done this thing for anything if I had had any sense at all."

The fire in the Lee home was put out before the bodies, the skull of each crushed, had been more than scorched, and William Lee stolidly helped carry them out to the lawn, insisting that he did not know how they came to their deaths.

Lee is illiterate and has been an idler since boyhood, according to testimony at the Coroner's inquest, which closed to-day at Booneville. His father, a plasterer, appeared to fear him and supplied him with money, even giving him a fourth share of the proceeds of the sale of some property recently.

Evidence produced to-day refuted Lee's statement that he rushed from the house immediately after he had started the fire. A basin, stained with blood, in which he had washed his hands, was found. Long gray hairs, supposedly his mother's, clung to the sides of it.

Hidden behind a door was a basket filled with dishes, knives, forks and kitchen utensils, which it is believed he had packed with the idea that he would escape the consequences of the murders and soon have his own home. The lives of his father and brother were insured for $700, and this would have come to him on their death and that of his mother.

A Sad Death.

I wish to say to the people of Ohio county that the sad, sad news came to hand a few days ago stating and telling me of the death of my near and dear nephew, James Paris, LaJunta, Col., who departed Aug. 13th, in the morning, at 5:30 and was laid to rest at Mayhew's Chapel, LaJunta, on Tuesday evening at 3:30. Dear Sam, Katie, sisters and brothers, weep not for James, for he is gone and to be prepared as he said, is one consoling thought. He is sleeping the long, long sleep we all have to sleep some day with the others. Written by his aunt, EMMA E. PARK. Hartford, Ky., Aug. 28, 1911.

THOMPSON JURY HUNG, AFTER A LONG STUDY

Of the Case—Bond Reduced to $5,000, Which Was Quickly
Given.

Dixon, Ky., Aug. 26.—After being in the jury room for the past 24 hours deliberating on a verdict of Thomas Thompson, who has been on trial for the past week, charged with the murder of his father, which occurred near Providence last December, the jury filed into the court room at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon and announced that there was no possible chance of reaching an agreement, as they were hopelessly hung. The jury was then discharged from further consideration of the case, and the prosecution was continued until the first Monday in December.

The jury stood eight for conviction of manslaughter and four were for acquittal.

The bond of Thompson was then reduced from $10,000 to $5,000, which he gave with his three uncles, A. V. Thompson, of Louisville, Dick Thompson, of Ohio county, and Charles Childs, of this county, as sureties.

The largest crowd of the week attended the trial of Thompson on Friday. All evidence in the case was completed and the entire session of court to-day was taken up in the argument of the case, each side being given three and a half hours.

Six speeches were made. The arguments were unusually able and the court room was crowded all day and many were unable to gain admittance. The case was submitted to the jury at 5:30 o'clock Friday afternoon and a night session of court was held, but no verdict was reached.

O. SAUER KRAUT IS BULLY! O. SAUER KRAUT IS FINE!

Massillon, O., Aug. 28.—Sauer-kraut is to become not only the staff, but an agency for prolonging life at the Massillon State Hospital, provided the theory of a Cincinnati physician proves correct after a thorough test. The claim of the Cincinnati doctor, recently expounded, is that eating the toothsome Over-the-Rhine Teuton dainty will add to the years of the consumer. The cabbage crop at the institution has been exceptionally heavy this year, and of the 60,000 heads raised on the farm of the asylum 10,000 have been made into sauer-kraut. Dozens of barrels of the German delicacy were packed for opening next winter. The physicians at the institution will make observations as to the mental and physical condition of the patients after they have followed the diet.

BRIDEGEROON REFUSING TO TREAT, BADLY HURT

Washington, Ind., Aug. 25.—Last night a crowd of men and boys charivared Andrew Edwards and bride, and when Edwards failed to come across with a treat, several of the men forced an entrance to the house and threw the bridegroom bodily out of the door and down a flight of stairs. Edward's shoulder was badly hurt, his eye blackened, and a gash was cut in his scalp.

When picked up he was unconscious. The police are searching for the charivariers.

TO SAVE FROM LIFE OF SHAME

He Murdered Girl He Loved, Says Hopper.

THROWN FROM LAKE STEAMER
Says He Tried to Reform the Girl in Chicago, But Couldn't.

STARVING HIMSELF TO DEATH

Grand Rapids, Mich., Aug. 28.—Determined, he says, to cheat a term of imprisonment, Charles Hopper, of Chicago, who on Saturday night murdered Daisy Watts, better known as Grace Lyons, of Chicago, by throwing her off a steamer into Lake Michigan, has absolutely refused to touch food or drink offered to him in his cell in the county jail at Grand Haven.

The tragedy is one of the few murders committed on Government inland waters in several years, and the charge of murder will be placed against Hopper in the Grand Rapids Federal Court.

The murder of Daisy Watts has brought to light the tragic end of a misspent life in the Chinese dives of Chicago, of the daughter of a prominent Grand Rapids couple. Hopper, in a confession made in the Holland jail before being taken to Grand Haven, declared he committed the crime to prevent the woman from returning to the life of the underworld, which he says she was leading when he found her.

Hopper says he first met the woman about three years ago in a State-street apartment house in Chicago, and fell in love with her, but she refused to marry him. Six months ago, he says, he met her in a Halsted-street Chinese dive. According to his story, she accepted his offer of marriage and he took her from the place and they lived together until recently. Last Sunday she disappeared, and he traced her to the same Chicago dive, where he claims he found her smoking opium with ten Chinamen. She left the place with him, but they quarreled soon afterward, and on Saturday she left. He traced her to the boat and boarded it. Another scene resulted and the crime was committed near the Michigan shore.

"I am glad I did it," said Hopper, concluding his confession. "Now I know where she is. Those Chinese devils can never get their clutches on her again."

CHURCH DEACON KILLS ANOTHER CHURCHMAN

Ashburn, Ga., Aug. 27.—As a result of a church quarrel, R. G. Whiddon, deacon of Mount Pisgah church, located near here, to-day shot and killed J. M. Lawson, a fellow deacon, and then took his own life. Mr. Whiddon had fallen out with his preacher and members of the church and had said that the pastor, the Rev. Duncan Massey, should not preach at the church again.

The double tragedy was enacted in the presence of many men, women and children who had gathered for church services.

Whiddon was in Ashburn yesterday and bought a coffin. Several years ago he built a vault in front of his door to receive his body when he died. He has always been considered peculiar.

NEW SKY WANDERER APPROACHING EARTH

Geneva, N. Y., Aug. 26.—The new comet recently discovered by Dr. William R. Brooks, of Hobart College, has become so bright as to be seen with opera glasses or small telescope, and will soon be visible to the naked eye.

The comet is now in constellation Cygnus, about three degrees north of Alpha, the top star in the Northern cross, directly overhead, in the early evening. Motion is north-west. Dr. Brooks says the comet is coming nearer and will continue to grow brighter for several weeks.

Harry N. Atwood, who has earned the title of champion airman of the world, is said to have received $6,000 for his record-breaking flight from St. Louis to New York.

GIANT TO BLAME FOR FATALITIES

Of Wild Panic in Moving Picture Show.

THROWN FROM LAKE STEAMER
Not Even Fire to Cause Panic
—Thirteen Children In the List.

DEATH IN SENSELESS FRIGHT

Canonsburg, Pa., Aug. 27.—Twenty-six dead from suffocation; twenty-five seriously injured; thirty suffering from minor hurts.

That is the amount of human toll exacted by an inexcusable panic at a moving picture show in the Canonsburg opera house Saturday night.

The moving picture machine developed a slight defect. There occurred a noise like "click." A small boy shouted "fire," at the same time starting for the narrow exit.

Bulus Dubrowski, a foreign miner, a giant in proportions, jumped from his seat and ran rapidly for the same exit. In a moment there was a fighting, struggling mass after him. At the head of a narrow stairway which led to the street, the foreigner tripped. As he rolled down the stairs he swept others from their feet who were awaiting their turn to enter the theater and soon there was an indescribable pile of human beings at the front of the steps, battling like mad.

When the doorway had been filled up, still other persons walked over the bodies of those who had gone down and breaking the glass transom over the door, crawled through and dropped into the street.

During this time Manager Ferguson had endeavored to stop the panic. Accompanied by his wife and calling loudly to the frightened people to follow him, he led the way to the rear and full 300 escaped in this way.

Of the twenty-six dead, thirteen were children, seven of them pupils in the public schools. To-day it was decided by the school authorities to postpone for a week the opening of the schools.

Sydney Rittinger was at the performance with his finance, Miss Lulu Fisher. Before entering the building they had stopped at a jewelry store nearby and Rittinger had bought the ring that was to have been used at their wedding. Both were killed.

Wilmer Lane, an employee of the Canonsburg pottery and a member of the volunteer companies, hastened to answer the alarm and was working at the pile of bodies at the entrance when he came upon the lifeless forms of his two children, lying beside his unconscious wife.

Coroner James T. Tefran has begun a rigid investigation. He arrived at the scene early to-day and selected a jury. It developed during to-day that there was no flash nor was there the slightest sign of fire. Manager Ferguson, of the opera house, explained that when the film broke, a bright light was thrown on the screen. The frightened boy imagined it was fire and unconsciously shouted out the death knell of more than a score of persons.

JURORS FREE TAYLOR OF MOB MURDER CHARGE

Rockport, Ky., Aug. 26.—Last

Thursday morning Uncle Jimmie Wilson, Sr., took a little stroll through his roasting-ear patch, and found some one gathering corn.

Uncle Jimmie resented familiarity with his property, and by way of emphasizing his resentment he turned a shotgun loose at a bag of corn that happened to be resting on the shoulder of some man. When the smoke cleared away he found the bag had 36 ears of corn in it, and near by was a hat with a hole shot in it.

Uncle Jimmie will take pleasure in delivering the hat to the owner, provided proof of ownership is produced.

DEATH AND FUNERAL OF DR. EVERLY, OF CERALVO

Owensboro, Ky., Aug. 25.—The jury which held the fate of John W. Taylor, an alleged member of the Livemore mob, to-day followed the example set by the Michel jury and returned a verdict of absolute acquittal. The verdict was returned after only a short deliberation by the jurymen. After the dismissal of the jurymen it was learned that only one man of the jury favored conviction.

STARVING FISHERMAN BATTLED WITH A SHARK

Bath, Me., Aug. 28.—Joseph A.

Pottle, a fisherman, who three days ago was lost on the Atlantic, having lost sight of his vessel, was rescued to-day by a party of Bar Harbor yachtsmen and taken to port.

Pottle told a tale of terrible suffering. While out in his boat gathering in his trawls he became lost in the fog, and, despite his cries, he was unable to learn how near the vessel was. Finally he concluded to row around in a circle, broadening it at times.

Pottle then decided that he would throw all the fish overboard, thinking it would be but a matter of hours only when he would reach the coast, but his reckonings proved to be incorrect. In throwing over the fish a shark was attracted and showed fight, thinking, apparently, that the man in the boat was throwing missiles at him.

Pottle fought off the infuriated fish for 40 minutes, finally beating it off with the oars and throwing the netted trawls around the fish's sword, which at one time penetrated the boat above the water line.

Pottle, growing weak on the third day, started to eat parts of his coat to appease his hunger, and was almost deprived of strength when rescued.

WEDDING FOILED AND THE GIRL WAS PLEASED

Romantic Jessie Moore Glad Her Father Stopped Marriage to Westerner.

Madisonville, Ky., Aug. 25.—Al

Myers, a six-foot cowboy from a Wyoming ranch, and pretty Jessie Moore, aged eighteen, were foiled in an elopement by Policeman Wilson at Hopkinsville. Six months ago Myers placed an advertisement in a St. Louis paper asking for correspondents with a view to matrimony.

Jessie Moore, with mind inspired by romance, answered the ad. A close correspondence was kept up.

Three weeks ago the cowboy came here. They met at a neighbor's house each night. Some days ago Myers asked the father for his daughter, but was refused. At midnight Jessie left a bundle in her bed to deceive her parents, crept away, met her lover and they drove to Nortonville, took the train for Princeton, registered at different hotels, then went to Hopkinsville to take the train for Springfield, Tenn. The father telephoned to the theater and soon there was an indescribable pile of human beings at the front of the steps, battling like mad.

The conductor waited that he might see who boarded, as the train was pulling out. The runaways climbed on the platform. "I am glad you have arrested me," said the girl. "I don't want to marry." Her father met the train and all three went away together, Myers pleading his love and the girl refusing to marry. There is no girl out West so pretty, the cowboy declared.

Found.

HORRIBLE SCENE AT EDDYVILLE

When a Negro Wife Killer
Was Electrocuted.

STRUGGLED FOR 28 MINUTES

And Straps Snap Asunder as Sizzling Current Surges
Through Him.

FINALLY PRONOUNCED DEAD

Eddyville, Ky., Aug. 22.—With the fury of a maddened bull, early to-day Oliver Lock, negro wife murderer, struggled for twenty-eight minutes with 2,000 volts of electricity surging through his body, until with herculean strength he burst the leather clamps which bound his arms and legs to the death chair. He apparently succumbed just as he had burst his bonds and the current was turned off, but an investigation by Dr. Moss, the prison physician, and Dr. Travis, found him reviving, and a second current of 2,500 volts was turned on. Even then life was not extinct for several minutes.

Lock was marched by Death Guards Black and Glenn into the death chamber at 4:45 o'clock this morning, in the presence of twenty witnesses. Chaplain Holton led the way and pronounced a short prayer of mercy for the soul of the doomed man. Lock took his seat in the electric chair unassisted. Chief Electrician Depp and Assistant Collier adjusted the fastenings and straps, and at 4:51 the hookwink fell over his face and the signal was given. As the 2,000 volts were turned on he writhed and straightened out his limbs until the clamps burst.

Lock arrived yesterday afternoon from Louisville, where he has been kept since he murdered his wife in July of last year. He came here in custody of Deputy Sheriffs Robert C. Kaltenbacher and George Butellier and with them were also Matthew Kelly, the Louisville negro, who is sentenced to die September 28 for the murder, a few weeks ago, of his mistress and his sister-in-law.

Lock, upon his arrival here, expressed himself as happy and contented in the forgiveness of his sins and said that he was ready to go. He slept but two hours during the night, spending most of his time standing or kneeling with his eyes closed and lips moving in fervent prayer.

"Good-bye, brethren, meet me in heaven," he said, as the fastenings were adjusted preparatory to his execution.

To all appearances the chair and fastenings were made of sufficient strength to hold an ox, which makes it the more surprising that they were torn asunder like bands of paper when the current was applied. Lock was apparently below the medium in strength and it seemed a freak of electricity that evidently gave him superhuman strength. The spectators describe the execution as the most horrible sight they ever witnessed.

The body was embalmed and shipped back to Louisville at 9 o'clock this morning.

BEATING PUBLISHERS—
THE LAW ON THE SUBJECT

Taking a paper out of the post-office makes the recipient liable for the bill. O. D. Austin, a Butler, Mo., publisher, sent his paper to Charles Burge. The latter paid for it twice and then refused to pay again. He said he ordered it stopped. But the Court of Appeals holds that mere acceptance of the paper created a liability. It adds: "The preparation and publication of a newspaper involves much mental and physical labor as well as an outlay of money. One who accepts the paper by continuously taking it from the post-office, receives a benefit and pleasure arising from such labor and expenditure as fully as if he had appropriated any other product of another's labor, and by such act he must be held liable for the subscription price."

O'REAR'S EXPLANATION
SOUNDS LIKE COMIC OPERA

The Louisville Post is the ablest and most aggressive daily paper in Kentucky advocating Judge O'Rear's election. Day in and day out, with reason, and without reason, it attacks the Democratic party, denounces the Democratic ticket, advocates the Republican party and praises Judge O'Rear. And yet even the Louisville Post is unable to swallow the monstrous explanation advanced by Judge O'Rear in defense of his declaration at Louisville that Senator Bradley "is one Senator on whose character there is no blot, and on whose record there is no stain."

In his speech at Elizabethtown Judge O'Rear devoted many hundreds of words to an attempted defense of that statement, alleging it was due to some threat conveyed by some unidentified representative of Senator Bradley that Governor Bradley would surrender the caucus nomination unless he was elected immediately. Commenting on this the Louisville Post says:

"We admit that the assertion that Governor Bradley, even with the aid of Mr. Reno, scared Lillard and Charlton and McNutt and Mueller into voting Mr. Bradley into the Senate, sounds very much like comic opera and the last touch of the absurd is given to this version of the appointment of Lillard as private secretary to the new Senator. A man so easily scared can not make an efficient secretary to a Senator."

Is there a single intelligent man in the State who believes that explanation given by Judge O'Rear of Senator Bradley's election is accurate, is even plausible?—[Lexington Herald.]

AN EXCEPTIONAL MAN
ON THE STATE TICKET

The Hancock Clarion says:

There's one man running to-day for a State office with whom the public may be little acquainted, yet who, in point of qualification, in our honest judgment, has no superior on either ticket, and that man is Ed McDermott, of Louisville, who is the Democratic nominee for Lieutenant Governor.

We have watched this man's course for a number of years and particularly kept up with his public utterances, and have noted that as a speaker he is in great demand, and as a thinker on public questions he has evidently "burned the midnight oil."

Classical, forceful and logical, Ed McDermott would make the State even a splendid Governor. Certain it is that in many years no such man in intellectual capacity has offered this service to the State of Kentucky as a Lieutenant Governor—a useless office with a first-class man seeking the position.

Stepping on a rusty nail has been the cause of many cases of lockjaw. The nail was not so much the fault as neglect of the wound. If such wounds were promptly cleansed and BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT applied there would be no lockjaw, as the antiseptic properties of the liniment would counteract the poison and the wound would heal quickly. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by Hartford Drug Co., Hartford, Ky., and Donovan & Co., Beaver Dam, Ky.

A CURIOUS DISCOVERY—
UMBRELLA IN A SHARK

A man-eating shark, 17 feet in length, captured to-day at the mouth of Delaware Bay by James Keyes, a member of the crew of Lightship No. 60, had an umbrella with the covering intact in its stomach. There were also several large pieces of oilcloth, a lot of steel junk and other indigestible things.

The shark was caught by Keyes after a hard fight. When he succeeded in bringing it to the surface he used a steam winch to land the monster on the deck of the lightship.—[Lewes (Del.) Cor. New York Sun.]

THE HAND OF THE WHISKEY TRUST

Was Seen Everywhere and Influence Felt

IN THE TRIUMPH OF BRADLEY

Personnel of the Quartette Which Defeated Beckham for Senator.

REVIEW OF THE FAMOUS EVENT

The Glasgow Times says: In his speech of acceptance, Judge O'Rear, in the exuberance of the moment, felt moved to exclaim: "It is a great privilege to be received in this way by the representatives of 237,000 Republicans of Kentucky, and to be introduced by the greatest living Senator of the United States. I am proud to say that, despite the machinations of the lobby, here is one Senator on whose election no stain rests."

Right there the Judge ham-strung himself—we even venture to assert severed an intestine—for the whole campaign. That man, Democrat or Republican, who can assert that Senator Bradley's election to the Senate was free from scandal, or from the lobby influence, or from stain, is either lacking in moral perception, or too ignorant to know the A B C of politics. Bradley was elected Senator primarily by the treachery of the Courier-Journal and the bolt of six Democratic members of the Legislature—secondarily, by the work of the whiskey trust.

McNutt, a saloon-keeper of Louisville, was one of those who bolted Beckham.

Eph Lillard, keeper of a local town joint, disguised by the name of a drug store, was another. He was prosecuted for liquor selling, went out of business, and is Senator Bradley's private secretary at $1,500 per year.

Wheeler Campbell—another of the bolters, the Times is informed—is now State counsel for the whiskey trust.

Billy Klar, bolter No. 4, was a saloonkeeper in Lexington.

In the relentless war waged against Gov. Beckham, finally culminating in his defeat and the triumph of Bradley, the hand of the whiskey trust was everywhere seen, and its influence felt. And yet Judge O'Rear has the sublime nerve to assert that Senator Bradley was elected in spite of any lobby, and that no stain rests upon him.

The voters of Kentucky have endured much. Whether they will stand for a classification as either common idiots, or political ignoramuses, remains to be seen.

The Times did not assert or even intimate that the Courier-Journal had been bought by anybody. It does say that it bolted the nomination of Gov. Beckham for the United States Senate, and that its managing editor was Senator Bradley's chief manager and worker in the contest leading up to the election of Senator Bradley. What influences were behind its monstrous betrayal of its party, the Times does not know, and does not attempt to say.

The Times confesses that it both admired and respected Judge O'Rear. It regarded him as the ablest and most dangerous man the Republicans had ever nominated for office since the days of Judge Harlan. But when he raised his hands above Senator Bradley's head, drew the longbow of his imagination, and declared that here was one Senator without blot or stain upon his election, right there the Times threw up its hands in despair and passed him up to the final judgment of a truth-loving people.

Seemed to give him a new stomach.

"I suffered intensely after eating and no medicine or treatment I tried seemed to do any good," writes W. H. Youngpeters, editor of the Sun, Lake View, Ohio. "The first few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets gave me surprising relief and the second bottle seemed to give me a new stomach and perfectly good health." For sale by all dealers.

WEIGHING AN ELEPHANT MADE AN EASY AFFAIR

There is a story often told in India of Shajee, a Hindoo Prince, who on a certain occasion showed himself almost as clever as Archimedes.

A high official had made a vow that he would distribute to the poor the weight of his own elephant in silver money. But the great difficulty that at first presented itself was the mode of ascertaining what this weight really was. All the learned and clever men of the court seem to have endeavored in vain to construct a machine of sufficient power to weigh the elephant.

At length Shajee came forward and suggested a plan which was simple and yet ingenious in the highest degree. He caused the unwieldy animal to be conducted along a stage specially made for the purpose by the waterside into a flat-bottomed boat. Then, having marked on the boat the height to which the water reached after the elephant had weighed it down, the latter was taken out and stones substituted in sufficient quantity to hold the boat to the same line. The stones were then taken to the scales and thus, to the amazement of the court, was ascertained the true weight of the elephant. [New York Press.]

CALIFORNIA "OIL QUEEN" A NATIVE OF KENTUCKY

Largest Individual Oil Producer in the World—Her Terrible Struggles.

Hickman, Ky., Aug. 25.—Mrs. Mary A. Summers, known as the "Oil Queen of California," was a daughter of William McCutcheon, formerly merchant of this county, now deceased, and of Mrs. Jennie McCutcheon, who is still living and resides here. For a number of years Mrs. Summers taught music in this city. A quarter of a century ago, she and her husband, who was a mechanic, left for Los Angeles, where they followed their respective vocations until the oil boom. To-day Mrs. Summers is the largest individual oil producer in the world. Alone with her money she produces a thousand barrels a day, and in addition, she buys enough oil to supply contracts aggregating $2,500,000 a year.

When oil was discovered in the vicinity of Los Angeles, Mrs. Summers had in the bank $700, earned by teaching music. She put this and a like amount furnished by another into an oil well. And it went so deep she doubted ever getting her money out. With it went $1,800 more, for her credit was good. Bad luck followed more bad luck, and the climax came when casing and tools went crashing to the bottom of the well. Only the man drilling, the hole was left open. Day after day Mrs. Summers stood in the hot sun by that well, and night after night, by the light of a flaring torch, she hovered over it. The prospect was dreary, but Mrs. Summers, encouraged, went on boring wells until she found herself $10,000 in debt with only her music teaching fees to pay the bills. "When I found myself thus involved," says Mrs. Summers, "I thought if I ever got that paid and as much more in the bank, I would be glad to quit. But when I got that much I found that interest on it would not pay the expenses of a family of seven, so I had to keep on."

All told, she bored 155 wells. In the old days she had a room set aside in her home for business; to-day she has a suite of three offices in one of the biggest business blocks in Los Angeles.

SAW SHOT FIRED, WITNESS CLAIMS

Says Son Fired When the Father Approached,

THEN THREW BODY TO GROUND

And Walked Away—Trial of Young Thos. Thompson at Dixon.

ACCUSED TELLS SAME STORY

Dixon, Ky., Aug. 23.—With the placing of Thomas Thompson on the stand in his own defense on the charge of murder, for which he is being tried for the alleged murder of his father, at Providence last December, the defense began its testimony this morning, and by the time court adjourned this afternoon six of the defendant's witnesses had been heard. There are forty or fifty more witnesses to be heard in the case and it now looks as if it will be several days before the jury will be charged with the case.

The most important witness for the Commonwealth was Henry Brown, who resumed the stand this morning, who alleges to have been the only eye-witness to the murder.

Saw Shots Fired.

Brown claimed he was passing through the woods near the rock house and saw Thomas Thompson and Kerney Benjamin sitting on a log reading a newspaper; that Henry Thompson came up, and after a few words with his son, attempted to chastise him, and that Thomas Thompson drew a pistol from his coat pocket and shot his father; that they grappled; that Thomas threw his father to the ground and that two more shots were fired, but that he could not tell who fired them. Thomas then placed a hat on his father's head and he and young Benjamin started away, returning to town by different streets.

Other witnesses testified that about 4 o'clock, after Henry Thompson was reported missing, Thomas Thompson borrowed a horse to look for his father, and was gone twenty or thirty minutes and when he returned he said he thought he had found his father. Owen Barnhill, bookkeeper at the Thompson store, stated that about 2 o'clock young Thompson wanted $50, and that he let him have $20.

When young Thompson took the stand the large crowd in attendance at the trial became perfectly silent, and almost every word of the accused could be heard throughout the entire courtroom.

Defendant's Story.

He testified that the night previous to the murder of his father, he stayed with Kerney Benjamin, and a young man by the name of Chappel; that they played the phonograph, drank some beer and played several games of cards before retiring, and that they set an alarm clock to awaken them at 7 o'clock the next morning. When the alarm clock sounded, Chappel arose, and by the time he left, Thompson arose, according to the testimony of the accused.

Thompson claims that he went to his father's store and worked until late that morning, when he was informed that his father was looking for him. Upon learning this he went in search of his father, but could not find him, and returned to the store, where he encountered his brother-in-law, Thomas Baker, whom he took to dinner with him.

After dinner, young Thompson claimed he returned to the store and not finding his father, borrowed a horse and went to the ice plant, and while in a field, heard a shot, near the rock house, in the ravine. Hearing the shot, he thought it was some hunters, and went in that direction, he claims, and came upon the body of his father.

He stated that he returned to the store and notified his brother-in-law and one of the clerks of his find and they secured the body.

Young Thompson claimed to have had nothing to do with the murder and that he had not seen his father since the day previous.

The Elizabethtown News says: The real ultimatum which Senator Bradley delivered to the whiskey lobby at Frankfort was "Elect me Senator and the County unit bill will be defeated. If not done in a few days, the Republicans will pass the County Unit Bill." And the aforesaid lobby got busy and elected Bradley. We can prove this statement if necessary.

PAIR FROZE TO DEATH GOING UP PIKE'S PEAK

Husband Wanted to Go Back, But Wife Persisted in the Ascent.

Colorado Springs, Col., Aug. 24.—F. Skinner and wife, of Dallas, Texas, were frozen to death near the summit of Pike's Peak this morning. Their bodies, almost covered with snow, were found side by side by a boy walking down the Peak this afternoon. It is understood both victims of the storm were printers, employed on a Dallas (Texas) paper.

Skinner and his wife started to walk to the top of the Peak early yesterday afternoon and stopped at the office of the Pike's Peak News, about three miles above the Half Way House, to register. At that time, Mr. Skinner, who was about 55 years old, doubted their ability to reach the top of the mountain. Mrs. Skinner, who was about ten years younger than her husband, is reported to have made the remark: "I'm from Texas, and they're not going to say when I get back that I could not climb Pike's Peak."

The couple were last seen about 4 o'clock by the crew of the downward-bound cog-road train. At that time Mr. Skinner repeated his doubts to some of the passengers. But Mrs. Skinner again insisted on trying to reach the summit.

At 7 o'clock last night a severe snowstorm, which covered the entire Peak to a depth of a foot on the level, accompanied by a fifty-mile wind, broke on the Peak. From the positions of the bodies when found, it is believed the couple sought comparative shelter of a huge boulder but short distance from the track. Both wore very light-weight clothing.

SELF-CONVICTED.

The fatal remark of Judge O'Rear in his speech of acceptance in the State Convention of his party, when he said that Senator Bradley's election to the place he now holds was without stain, is arising to plague him upon every corner. Like Banquo's ghost, it will not down. That he was insincere in these remarks is evident by recalling what he said upon a previous occasion. Out of his own mouth is he convicted. In his speech at Lexington, just three days before his convention speech, he gave vent to the following (we quote from a stenographic report in the Lexington Leader, a Republican paper):

"These lobbyists," continued Judge O'Rear, "not only bribe members of the Legislature to protect their interests, but they ELECT United States Senators, and decide elections. They have elected them in Kentucky as well as in Illinois, Ohio, West Virginia and Colorado. Illinois is not the only State that has a Legislative jackpot."

"They (the lobbyists) have elected them in Kentucky," says the knowing Appellate Judge. Whom have the lobbyists elected in Kentucky? To whom did Judge O'Rear refer? Have we ever had a better exemplification of the machinations of the lobby—the long-drawn-out contest, the dickerings and bickerings which were daily reported in the newspapers at the time—than the final consummation of the legislative imbroglio which set aside the will of the voters and sent Wm. O. Bradley to the Senate from Kentucky?

THE TWO PLATFORMS.

The Hartford Republican in its last issue says:

The plank in the Democratic platform on the primary election question is as clear as mud. In fact, the only thing which is demanded in that plank is that the State pay the expenses of all primary elections which various parties may decide to hold, leaving the parties to determine for themselves whether or not such primaries shall be held.

The Louisville Post, a well recognized Republican paper, whose editor is heartily supporting Judge O'Rear and all of the candidates running with him, recently had a column editorial comparing the platforms of the two leading parties in Kentucky. Touching the liquor question, considered a vital issue in Kentucky to-day, the Post says:

Both parties declare for the passage of a straight-out county unit bill, and there is no evasion of the issue. Of the two the Democrats go, perhaps, a trifle further by specifically endorsing the opinion of the Court of Appeals, as written by Judge O'Rear and concurred in by six Democratic Judges in the matter of the constitutionality of the Cammack bill.

And so, according to the Post, the Democrats seem to have slightly the advantage on the county unit question, because they "go a little further" than the Republicans. Regarding other issues, including the primary election plank, which the Hartford Republican says is

"as clear as mud" in the Democratic platform, the Post says:

Upon some other State issues the party platforms are identical. Both parties enter pledges for direct primaries, for better schools and roads, for direct election by the people of United States Senators, for a uniform system of accounting, for a war against the Third House and for a State examination of banks.

It all seems to be very clear to the Post's editor, who takes a fair view of the matter. Evidently the Hartford Republican simply wants to fuss at the Democrats for political reasons only and cares little of how sound the grounds are upon which it bases its arguments. It reminds us of the bashful young man who, in calling upon his best girl, inquired about his prospective mother-in-law's health. As he explained afterwards, "not that he cared a d—n, but just to get up more talk." The Hartford Republican doesn't seem to be particular about the facts, but just wants to condemn the Democratic platform.

Concluding its general summary of the Democratic and Republican State platforms, the Post says:

Take them as a whole, there is in State issues, except in the vital matters of apportionment and the registration certificate act, little to choose between them. Both platforms are good.

Why can't our neighbor be fair enough to take a like view of the matter?

WORTH TRYING AGAIN.

The Democratic State Platform doesn't seem to please some of the Republican leaders who hold the self-appointed job of censors for their party and they are trying to find all kinds of fault with it. They say it is insincere and that the policies it advocates will never be put into effect if the Democratic ticket is elected. How do they know? Have Democratic officials ever proved recreant to the trust reposed in them? Have the Republican leaders any record to show as a sample of what ought to be done in State executive manners? Rather, haven't they pretty bad record along this line? We rather think so, and we believe the great mass of the people recollect the bad performance of a result.—[Frankfort News-Journal] guaranteed brand on it, vote the Democratic ticket.

The matter of an election (especially a State election) should be of vital interest to every patriotic citizen, from start to finish.

THEY SEEM TO BE AFTER THE SEVENTY THOUSAND

After Judge O'Rear was nominated by the Republican convention at Louisville, so it is stated on the most reliable information, he called a meeting of the nominees. He talked to the candidates on the ticket about the campaign and the election. Then Judge O'Rear demanded that each candidate put up, as his part of the campaign fund, one year's salary of the office to which he aspired. This was to go into a campaign fund and be used in addition to the fund which would be raised in the regular way.

Let's see about this. If each candidate on the ticket put up a year's salary he would draw, if elected, the result would be a campaign fund of $26,000 which would be used for the purpose for which such funds usually are used. The amount named does not include the $6,500 a year which the Governor draws and if Judge O'Rear should do as he demanded of the other candidates, the campaign fund, raised by the candidates alone, would be $32,700, which the campaign committee would have as a nucleus for a campaign fund.

What is Judge O'Rear going to do with this fund?

At Elizabethtown, in his opening speech, Judge O'Rear said that there are 70,000 men in this State who will sell their votes at any election. Is there any connection between the demand for one year's salary and the statement that 70,000 voters can be bought? It certainly looks like the Judge was planning to go after some of those 70,000 men who can be bought.

For a Judge of the Court of Appeals to demand one-fourth of a man's salary to land him in the office he seeks, certainly is improper.

Why does he not go further and require everybody who is promised a job to give one year's pay toward the campaign fund? A big campaign fund could be secured in that way and the 70,000 might fatten as a result.—[Frankfort News-Journal]

DEMOCRATS OF DISTRICT EXPECT TO WIN OUT

Although it is an uphill fight, but with Robert Harrison as the nominee for State Senator, the Democrats of the Seventh Senatorial District, made up of Ohio, Butler and Muhlenberg counties, confidently expect to convert the district from its habit of sending a Republican to the upper branch of the Legislature.

The following sounds more like a Mulhatton story than anything else, but it appeared as a genuine news special in Saturday's Courier-Journal:

Georgetown, Ky., Aug. 25.—While the whole countryside here is crying for rain and bemoaning the fact that crops are completely ruined by the longest drouth known in this section for many years, Martin Bridgeman looks upon a crop of corn consisting of eight acres, the average ear of which, by actual measurement, is twenty-nine inches long and twelve inches in circumference.

FIFTY CENTS EACH IS RATHER LOW ESTIMATE

This from the Hopkinsville New Era puts a low estimate on the price for votes at the coming State election:

The Republican candidates for State offices have, it is said, at the suggestion of Judge O'Rear, agreed to contribute to the campaign fund a sum equal to a year's salary each. This makes a total of $32,700 ranging from $6,500 for the Governor to $710, the salary of the Lieutenant Governor for the legislative term. This will be less than 50 cents apiece for the 70,000 Kentucky voters who, O'Rear declares, regularly sell their votes.

WOMEN CHEER AS NEGRO IS BURNED BY A MOB

Purcell, Okla., Aug. 24.—Three thousand men, women and children shouted their approval this afternoon as Peter Carter, a negro, identified as the man who attacked Mrs. Minnie Spraggins last night, was burned to death on a brush pile in the main street of the town.

Officers attempting to rescue the negro were overpowered and locked up.

Mrs. Spraggins' assailant, after the deed, set fire to the house, though her husband saw the flames and rescued her. The negro was captured by three other negroes and turned over to the whites.

The women cheered as the victim shrieked for mercy. Mrs. Spraggins is not expected to live.

Of Publicity for Democrats—Big

Time Planned at Bow-

Henry R. Lawrence, of Cadiz, Democratic State Executive Committee man from the First district and one of the best known editors in Kentucky, has been named by Rufus H. Vansant, chairman of the Democratic State Campaign Committee, as chairman of the Publicity Bureau for the campaign. He will be at Louisville, headquarters throughout the campaign, conducting the press work in behalf of the Democratic ticket. Reports received at headquarters since the recent platform convention indicate that the Democratic press of Kentucky is almost unanimous in the support of Senator McCreary and his associates on the State ticket, and it is the purpose of Chairman Vansant to keep the country press in close touch with all details of the campaign in order that the voters of Kentucky will know at all times the progress that is being made by the candidates for the various State and legislative offices.

Democrats of the Third district are planning for a big demonstration at Bowling Green Monday, September 4, the date of the formal opening of the campaign by Senator McCreary and the other Democratic nominee: Harry Lazarus, State Executive Committeeman from the Third district, has been named chairman of the General Committee on Arrangements and will have supervision of all details incident to the opening. Prominent party-leaders from that section say much interest is being taken by the Democrats of the district in the opening of the campaign.

M. M. Logan, of Edmonson county, who withdrew from the race for the nomination for Attorney General three weeks before the primary, has been selected by the committee to preside at the opening of the campaign and to introduce Senator McCreary and the other speakers.

Special trains will be run to Bowling Green from Hopkinsville, Franklin, Glasgow, Elizabethtown and other towns in that section of the State.

OHIO COUNTY TEACHERS

IN INSTITUTE SESSION

Large Number in Attendance and a Very Interesting Meeting.

The Ohio County Teachers' Institute met in annual session in court hall on Monday, Aug. 28, 1911.

On account of the incessant rain, but few teachers were able to get to town in the forenoon and on this account the Institute was not called together until the afternoon.

At 1 p. m. the Institute assembled ready for work. Devotional exercises were conducted in a very impressive manner by Rev. J. W. Bruner. Song service led by Prof. Otis Carson.

Hon. C. M. Crowe, on the part of the citizens of Hartford, in a very entertaining manner, delivered the welcome address, which was followed by a response in behalf of the teachers by Prof. Ozna Shultz.

Supt. Leach is chairman of the body and Miss Annie Eliza Keown was unanimously chosen secretary.

Dr. Fred Mutchler, of Bowling Green, is present as Instructor, and is giving some forceful addresses, chiefly along the lines of practical and scientific agriculture.

To-night Dr. Mutchler is to deliver an address to which the public, and especially the farmers, are invited, upon the subject: "Reclamation of the Soil." He merits and should have a full house.

On Thursday night an entertainment will be given by the citizens of Hartford.

Memorial exercises were held last night in honor of Prof. Wayland Alexander, Profs. John C. Barnard, J. W. Petty and Clayton Rhoads. Judge J. S. Glenn spoke in behalf of Dr. Alexander, Ernest Woodward for Prof. Barnard, Guy H. Hazelrigg for Clayton Rhoads and Prof. Ozna Shultz in behalf of J. W. Petty.

The Institute adjourned at noon yesterday and attended the funeral of Prof. Alexander in a body.

There will be a ball game played at the local grounds to-morrow (Thursday) afternoon between picked nine of the teachers and the Hartford first team.

From the attendance and interest manifested, as well as the superior ability of the Instructor, this promises to be one of the best Institutes ever held in the county.

The following teachers were enrolled first day:

Alford, Lee, White Run; Allen, E.

WON'T DARE TO CRUSH DR. WILEY

Because of His Efforts in Behalf of Public.

HIS WORK HAS BEEN BLOCKED

By Administration Conspirators, But He Still Goes Bravely On.

LIGHT ON A VITAL SUBJECT

(By Clyde H. Tavenner, Special Washington Correspondent of The Herald.)

Washington, Aug. 25.—The Taft administration will not dare to carry out the plot to drive Dr. Harvey Wiley from the Government service.

This thought must have suggested itself time and again to the minds of the men and women who crowded the Moss investigating committee rooms and heard Dr. Wiley lay bare the startling facts of a systemized fight against him because he insisted that food manufacturers keep their products pure.

At times, as Dr. Wiley told of the fierce persecution he had endured, his voice almost broke, and he could proceed only with difficulty. At times also the committee members, utterly dumbfounded by the Doctor's statements, were at a loss as to what questions to ask him next.

Not only was it shown that Dr. Wiley's efforts to serve the public and protect it from injurious and poisonous substances in food preparations had been absolutely blocked by the conspirators in the administration headed by Secretary of Agriculture Wilson and his controlling influence, Solicitor McCabe, but that the latest effort to force Dr. Wiley out of office was based upon a letter which he never received and knew nothing about.

Not boastfully or eagerly, but in response to questions by members of the committee, Dr. Wiley recited the universities at which he had studied, the great scientific societies at home and abroad which have honored him in various ways, and the recital went a long way in revealing to the committee the great public spirit and sympathy of this man who possesses a courage in public duty which neither threats from official sources nor opposition by the powers of evil have been able to break down.

While the whole hearing was a succession of revelations that left committee and spectators thunderstruck, the most astonishing testimony came when Dr. Wiley told of his efforts to prevent the use of alum and sulphur dioxide in food products.

"Alum, used in foods," said Dr. Wiley, "especially in baking powder, is responsible for the large amount of constipation that is prevalent throughout the country. I considered its use a serious danger to public health, and wanted it stopped pending an investigation. But the other two members of the referee board overruled me, as they invariably did, and the use of alum is still permitted."

Another case involved the use of sulphur dioxide. Dunlap and McCabe recommended that we discontinue the rule requiring that presence of this drug be indicated on the label. As the rule had been adopted after a most exhaustive investigation, I was convinced that to do away with it would be a grave mistake. Dunlap and McCabe revoked the rule, however, during my absence, and when I returned I wrote a letter to Secretary Wilson, asking for a hearing. But Secretary Wilson did not even reply to my letter."

stration and of this community. What promises may have been made of rewards to the Democratic members of the Legislature who voted for Bradley, will never be known, but shortly after his election as United States Senator, Mr. Bradley went to Governor Wilson and tried to secure the appointment of Colonel E. W. Lillard as Adjutant General. Governor Wilson declined and explained to Senator Bradley that inasmuch as Colonel Lillard, a Democrat and member of the Legislature, had voted for him for United States Senator, that his appointment as Adjutant General would bring a scandal on the Administration and probably a taint on his election as United States Senator. Senator Bradley then made the demand of Governor Wilson for the appointment and when the appointment was refused, Senator Bradley became angry and has never been the strong friend of Governor Wilson that he was prior to that time.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 25.—At the clearance sale at John Taylor's dry goods store this morning a crowd of women making for a lower floor, where some handbags were on sale at cut prices, took to the banisters and slid down.

The women entered the store on Baltimore avenue. The entrance floor on this street is a floor above that on Main street, where the bargain was on sale. They found the stairway was full and women were struggling and swaying in a congested mass, unable either to advance or retreat.

"Come on," a leader cried, "there's no getting through here."

As she spoke she gathered up her skirts, gave a quick spring and landed astride the banister. There was a flash of stockings and lace, and the next instant she was on the floor below, fighting her way toward the counter. One after another they landed at the bottom in shrieking heaps and would plunge into the struggling mass in front of the counter.

At the handbag counter the usual bargain tactics were resorted to. A woman would seize four or five bags and hold them all until she had made a choice. Many women were accompanied by their husbands, when it was their part to "hold out" desirable looking articles until the wife decided which was the most desirable, the rest would be dumped back on the counter.

Dost thou write him many notes a day and destroy them?

ATTEMPT TO CARRY WATER ON BOTH SHOULDERS

Judge E. C. O'Rear, Republican nominee for Governor, opened his campaign at Elizabethtown Monday. He made the sensational statement that 70,000 Kentuckians regularly sell their votes. In referring to the liquor question, Mr. O'Rear said: "Our party is not fighting the liquor business as a business. We are fighting its methods in politics and propose to put it out of politics. We are proposing this because it corrupts politics and perverts legislation."—[Maysville Ledger.]

TAKE IT IN TIME.

Just as Scores of Hartford People

Have.

Waiting doesn't pay. If you neglect the aching back, Urinary troubles surely follow. Act in time by curing the kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills are especially for sick, weakened kidneys.

Many people in this locality recommend them.

Here's one case:

J. C. Weatherholt, High street, Cloverport, Ky., says: "Two years ago I did not think it possible that I could ever be well again, in fact, I had settled up my affairs. I cannot describe the misery I endured from pains through my back and whenever I stooped, they became so sharp that it really felt as if some one were thrusting a knife into my kidneys. I was often very dizzy, dark spots floated before my eyes and I had to grasp something to keep from falling. My joints became swollen to twice their natural size and I lost weight rapidly until I was a mere skeleton. The doctors' medicines or the many guaranteed cures that I tried, did not help me and finally it was my good fortune to hear about Doan's Kidney Pills. I immediately procured a supply and I was greatly surprised by the results received. Before I had taken contents of the second box, there was a marked improvement and I continued using them until I was completely cured. I am now as well as any man in this county and I give Doan's Kidney Pills the credit."

BELIEF.

If I were asked what I believe, I could not help but say, The gentle and the simple creeds of boyhood's yesterday; The tender faith in Bible things, the truth, the way, the right, The golden rule to live one's life according to the light; And everywhere the thought of God, that we are everywhere The children of one Father's love and of His heavenly care.

If I were asked what I believe, I know my thoughts would go Back to a little child at prayer in the soft evenglow; And I can think of nothing else so beautiful, so sweet, As prayer beside a mother's knee who tried to lead our feet In paths of righteousness and truth where none could go astray From that dear life of simple trust in childhood's yesterday.

If I were asked what I believe, I'd have to say, as then, A simple faith in God's commands, a manlier trust 'mong men, A clear and more abiding course t'ward that which men might call

The straight-out-from-the-shoulder faith of Peter and of Paul; The teachings, most of all, that came to us in Sunday School, Way back in little childhood's land, the land of Golden Rule.

DRAMATIC CRITICISM—VALUE OF ENTERTAINMENT

The small boy stood in front of the dazzling lights of the cheap theater with a yellow dog under his arm. Evidently he wanted to get in, and the sight of a well-dressed and apparently prosperous man on the steps gave him an idea.

"Are you the manager of the show?" asked the boy. It turned out that he guessed correctly, and the lad continued:

"I want to see the show, but I haven't got no money. I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll give you this dog if you'll let me in."

The manager's heart melted. He remembered that he, too, had been a boy.

"You may go in," he said, "but never mind about giving me the dog. Take the dog along with you."

The lad went in with the yellow dog under his coat. After the performance the manager was still standing in front, and happened to see the urchin come out.

"Well, son," he said, "how did you like the show?"

"Oh, pretty well," he said, "but I'm glad I didn't have to give you the dog."

MONUMENT MARKS SPOT OF MORGAN'S SURRENDER

Carlisle, Ky., Aug. 26.—Col.
Green R. Keller, secretary of the Morgan's Men's Association, has just heard that the place where Gen. Morgan and his command were captured was marked by a monument. The news came in a letter from Mrs. Jennie C. McMillan, of Lisbon, O., who stated that she had seen a clipping copied from the Carlisle Mercury regarding the Morgan's Men reunion and supposed he would be interested in knowing about the monument.

Col. Keller says he doubts if any of Morgan's men knew of the existence of the monument, as he never heard any of them mention it.

He says that it is true that they were captured in Lisbon, O., in 1863, and that he was a member of the command when captured.

Mrs. McMillan says that the monument bears the following inscription:

"This stone marks the spot where the Confederate raider, Gen. John H. Morgan, surrendered his command to Maj. Geo. W. Rue, July 26, 1863, and is the farthest point north ever reached by any body of Confederate troops during the Civil War."

"Erected by Wili L. Thompson, East Liverpool, Ohio, 1909."

Col. Keller says this will be interesting news to Morgan's men.

VALUABLE ISLAND "NO-MAN'S LAND"

Apparently Not a Part of Any State.

RECORDS DON'T SEEM TO SHOW Definite Ownership, But Mat- ter Between Missouri and Kentucky.

A BIG ISLAND IN DISPUTE

Hickman, Ky., Aug. 26.—Wolf Island, a valuable tract of land in the Mississippi river, a few miles above Hickman, between Kentucky and Missouri, may be "No Man's Land." In response to an inquiry sent out several days ago by officials of the United States Land Office, a law firm in Charleston, Mo., to which the communication was referred by the Recorder of Mississippi county, has advised the local government land officials that the island did not belong to Missouri,
but was the property of Kentucky.
There were no records, according to the writer, to show ownership of the land by that State.

The officials of the land office some time ago received word from the Department of the Interior that this land had been ceded to Missouri, after an investigation in 1857,
by an engineer from the Interior Department. The officials of the department are attempting to clear up the titles to the land which have been filed with the Government through the various land offices of the State. The investigation which opened the question as to the ownership of the island was brought about by a desire on the part of the officials to correct a mistake which had been made in the recording of a claim for a tract of land on the island by Benjamin Woodruff in 1837.

A part of the island was found in the records of the land office, but an attempt to find the heirs of Woodruff received the reply from Charleston, the former location of one of the Government land offices, that the island is the property of Kentucky.

The letter will be forwarded at once to the officials of the Department of the Interior at Washington, that steps may be taken to untangle the situation which threatens to invalidate all the titles to land on the island. Wolf Island, over which the litigation has been waged, is said to be the biggest island in the Mississippi river, and is about three miles square, has 10,- 000 acres, and is between Mississippi county, Mo., and Hickman county, Ky. On maps, the island appears to be nearly in the center of the river, but according to a report of the engineers of the Interior Department, the main channel of the river is on the east side, separating the island from Kentucky.

*The Hartford HeraldGAUNTLET LET DOWN FOR 1912*By Speaker Champ Clark In Bold Challenge*TO THE REPUBLICAN LEADERS*Sprang from Common People and Always Works to Their Interest.*DEMOCRATS WELCOME ISSUE(By Clyde H. Tavener.)
Washington, Aug. 26.—(Special)

—The President has raised an issue which will rage with unabated fury until the close of the polls in November, 1912."

When Speaker Champ Clark threw down this challenge in what is now regarded as one of the most brilliant and militant speeches of his entire career, it meant not only that the Democratic fight for lower cost of living was to be one to a finish, but that Champ Clark himself was the man best qualified to lead that fight.

Republicans as well as Democrats apparently realized this, as was evidenced by the fact that when the Speaker's name was mentioned in connection with the Presidency, the big Missourian was cheered to the echo.

To those in the galleries, too, there was a significant meaning to this wild demonstration; it meant that Champ Clark of Missouri, who started life as a poor barefoot country boy, plowing corn on a rocky hillside in Kentucky, had entered on the last leg of a journey to the White House. And to the ears of Clark's friends in the crowded chamber the din of applause also sounded sweet, for to them it meant recognition at last of their contention that Champ Clark has become the biggest figure on the Democratic horizon; that the party has at last found a leader who can lead all factions.

"It makes me weary," thundered the Speaker, directly challenging the leaders on the Republican side, "to hear people talk about somebody wanting to destroy the industries and prosperity of this land. It is a lie. No sane man wants to injure any legitimate industry in this country. That is what I have contended for always, and especially since we carried the House and had the responsibility placed upon us. It is our country as well as yours; our children must live here as well as yours; we have as great a stake in the prosperity of the republic as you have, and, in the language of Tiny Tim, 'God bless us every one!'"

Another thing, they say we are playing politics. Whenever any man stands up and attempts to do anything for the benefit of the great masses of the people, he is denounced by the "interests" as a demagogue—is charged with playing politics. But to stand up and advocate the cause of the "interests" is the highest evidence of statesmanship. As far as I am individually concerned, I sprang from the loins of the common people, God bless them, and I am one of them. I labored with my hands in my youth, and would do it again to-morrow if I had to do so; and I unhesitatingly take my stand with the consumers of the land as against the interests.

The Globe-Democrat said that I came around to a tariff on wool because I heard the bleating of 134,000 sheep in my district. I tell you what I did hear. I heard the cry of 93,000,000 American citizens for cheaper and better clothing. The great desire of my heart is to give them some relief from their burden of taxation which they have borne for so many years.

"We most cheerfully welcome the issue. We will meet the President and his stand-pat cohorts at the polls in 1912!" (Loud and prolonged cheering on the Democratic side.)

KEPT WHISKERS UNTIL THE BRIDGE WAS BUILT

Saybrook, Conn., Aug. 26.—Stepping into a barber shop here last night, Joseph Pendleton, 91 years old, whose face the oldest inhabitant does not recollect having seen, for the reason that it has always been hidden by whiskers of luxuriant growth, seated himself in a chair and said:

"Take 'em off." The barber, surprised, hesitated, but Pendleton repeated the command, saying:

"I have kept my vow. The bridge is finished."

In his boyhood Pendleton vowed never to let razor or shears touch his face until a bridge was built over the Connecticut river opposite his home. This week the Old Lyme bridge, which exactly meets Pendleton's requirements, was dedicated and thrown open to the public, after an expenditure of nearly $1,000,000 for construction.

DYNAMITE EXPLOSIONS BRING RAIN IN TEXAS

Post City, Tex., Aug. 26.—Terrible explosions of dynamite which were made here two days ago for the purpose of producing rain, had the desired effect. At least it has been raining ever since and the drought is completely broken. The experiment was made under the direction of C. W. Post, and three thousand pounds of dynamite were used. No rain had fallen for several weeks and the drought was becoming very damaging. Within an hour after the first shot was fired a good shower fell. Six hours after the last shot a hard, steady rain set in, and it has kept up and is still falling.

"Take 'em off." The barber, surprised, hesitated, but Pendleton repeated the command, saying:

"I have kept my vow. The bridge is finished."

In his boyhood Pendleton vowed

PROHIBITION FIGHT IN MAINE WILL BE CLOSE

Both Sides Claim They Will Win and a Strenuous Campaign is On.

Portland, Me., Aug. 28.—The voters of Maine, September 11, will cast their ballots to determine whether or not the policy of constitutional prohibition of the liquor traffic, which has prevailed for more than a quarter of a century, shall be retained.

For weeks past the State has been flooded with literature sent out by both the proponents and opponents of the move to take prohibition out of the Constitution, while hundreds of speakers have voiced their sentiments at public gatherings. The campaign is a strenuous one.

Constitutional prohibition, in which Maine was a pioneer, was first adopted in 1884. For seventeen years the prohibitory law remained undisturbed of serious attack. In 1901 a bill for resubmission of the subject was before the Legislature, but only thirty-seven votes could be mustered in its favor. In 1907 a similar resolve was barely defeated.

In the State campaign last year resubmission was one of the chief issues, the Democrats taking a stand in favor of giving the voters another chance to pass upon the question and the Republicans standing pat on prohibition, which had been the party's policy for fifty years. The election of a Democratic Governor and a Democratic Legislature settled the question of resubmission.

Although both sides are claiming victory, conservative people, regardless of their belief, admit there is a decided doubt as to the outcome. The fight will not be settled by strict party vote, for there are many Prohibitionists among the Democrats and many antis in the Republican ranks.

Open Up a New Mine.

J. W. Bozarth has leased mining rights on his farm near the Owensboro road, four miles southwest of town, to Stanley Alsip and Levi W. Bright, and they have already opened a mine and are ready for the delivery of coal. This mine is in a locality from which coal has not heretofore been obtained and it is said to reveal rich mineral possibilities in an area of two square miles not supposed to be underlaid with workable coal.—[Hawesville Clarion.]

Preaching at the court house by the pastor, both morning and evening next Sunday. As there are but two more preaching Sundays in Hartford this conference year, the pastor desires to meet the public, especially the members, at these services.
